Washington, Dec. 19.—Representative Olney of Massachusetts called at the White House today to urge President Wilson to proclaim demobilization immediately with a view to lifting the way time prohibition ban. Mr. Olney said his request was based on completion of demobilization, that the Supreme Court in upholding the validity of the war time law virtually had invited the President to proclaim demobilization and that it was the intention of Congress to give the liquor interest one year before constitutional prohibition in which to dispose of their stocks. Officials at the White House promised to bring his views before the President.

Big Packing Companies to Give Up All Other Business--No Stores, No Cold Storage or R. R. Properties

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Dec. 19.—The government anti-trust suit brought against the great meat packing companies under the direction of President Wilson as a means of reducing the high cost of living in 1917, has been compromised by which the Meat Packers will confine their interests wholly to the meat and provision end of the business. An injunction to which the packers agree by the Federal court, will make the agreement binding and effective. The defendants in the suit, Armour, Swift, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy companies have agreed to dispose of all outside interest entirely with the exception of the direct handling of meat. They will dispose of their stock yards, terminals, retail stores, and cold storage plants. The stock yards and terminals will be sold under the direction of the court to the highest bidder and the company's will be enjoined permanently from owning any stockyards or any stock in them, and hereafter the price of meat will be in the hands of the people. Handling of meats, and of provision better cheese eggs and poultry, which have been left for further consideration.

Under the agreement made public tonight by Attorney General Palmer two years is given the packers to dispose of their holdings. Eighty-seven companies and 40 individuals are affected by the agreement. In general Attorney General Palmer said, the agreement forever prevents the control of the food stuff by any one group of men and it will bring the packers to the wholesale which would extend over a period of years.

FOUND A "KITTY" WE'LL KEEP IT

A lady at Kittery Point has lost her pet cat and most naturally she turned to the Herald to find "kitty" by inserting an ad. She said I have no phone, just have them call the Herald and they did all right. Wednesday was bitter cold and every cat in the city looked for shelter and promptly this morning a hundred or more called the Herald to say that a cat had wandered into their home. As we go to press the phone continues to ring and sweet voice says, I have a cat that came in last evening. She is a handsome kity and must have strayed from some good home. Will the Herald please tell me if it is not the one lost. We will say that it is not. At any rate every one reads the Herald.

EXETER

Exeter, Dec. 18.—At the meeting of Exeter City Council, held Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected: Noble grand, Mrs. Hannah S. Sargent; vice grand, Mrs. Jessie Conner; recording secretary, Priscilla Conner; financial secretary, Mrs. Mary F. Danks; treasurer, Mrs. Hattie Peck; and trustee, Mrs. Nellie F. Tilton. The installation will take place at the first meeting in January.

The funeral services of Mrs. Hattie S. Carls, wife of Walter S. Carls, were held at the home on Cass street Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Edward Green, pastor of the Unitarian church, was the officiating clergyman. Mrs. Carls, who was 41 years of age, died at the Cottage hospital Monday after an operation. The bearers were John J. Templeton, Albert J. Akeley, Milton S. Reed and Chester D. Hatch. Dr. L. J. Judd was the undertaker in charge.

The Exeter Boy Scouts are arranging an instructive and interesting program for the efficiency contest. The troop committee, scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster, and county secretary held a meeting this week, and the outlook for the organization is good. A full troop will doubtless be enrolled soon.

The thermometer registered 11 degrees below zero Thursday morning. The cold caused the freezing of many pipes and the firemen worked over time, for some considerable thickness on the Swamscott river, other streams and ponds in this section, and the ice dealers are looking for another harvest.

Sagamore Lodge, I. O. O. F., conferred the third degree upon a class of candidates at its regular meeting Wednesday evening. The term just completed was the most successful in many years. The last meeting of the year falls on Christmas night, and although this is the night for the election of officers, it was voted to hold the meeting then also. Installation is scheduled for Jan. 1.

DOVER

Dover, Dec. 18.—In the municipal court Wednesday Mike Temeliks was found guilty of the charge of keeping liquor for sale on Dec. 11 and the court ordered him to pay a fine of $25 and costs, total $36.43 and gave him 60 days at the house of correction, the latter sentence being suspended. County Solicitor Sherry presented for the state and Attorney Frank E. Blackman represented the defendant.

Proposed Chenekis was also found guilty of keeping liquor for sale and was fined $37.55 and a 60 day jail sentence. An appeal was taken and bonds furnished for his appearance at the February term of court. Judge McCabe represented the respondent.

The case against Miss Mary Casey for the stealing of $30 and a gold watch was not pressed by the county solicitor.

The Guild fair of the Congregational church was a success. The vestry was attractively decorated. Supper was served at 6.30 p. m. At 8 o'clock the entertainment began. It opened with a piano solo by Miss Emily King and Walter H. Oliver sang two songs. Among the other contributors were Mr. Shattuck, Spencer, Carolyn Eichen, Carolyn Spencer, Mr. Oliver, Miss Kimball, Mrs. Sanborn, Mrs. Fidler, Mrs. Kimball, Miss Woodworth, Miss Eleanor Bodell, Miss Greenman, Miss Sagerman, Elizabeth Ames, Miss A. Bray, Miss Eleanor Bray, Mr. Hayden, Mr. Timberlake, Phil Wentworth, Oliver Colburn and Edwin Sanborn.

A fire occurred at 28 West Concord street Wednesday morning at the home of Frank Hayden of Montreal, Canada. It started in one of the sleeping rooms and destroyed a couch. It is thought that the fire started from the children playing with matches.

"THE UNKNOWN PURPLE"

After having thrilled New York playgoers for an entire theatrical year, Roland West's play of mystery, "The Unknown Purple" is scheduled to open an engagement at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, next Monday, Dec. 22. The play is the joint effort of Roland West and Carlyle Moore, from an original story by Mr. West. The latter is not only the originator of the play, but he has produced it himself. The author-producer was widely discussed during the actor's strike, and it is quite possible that in the future we will see many plays produced under the management of the playwright.

In creating "The Unknown Purple" West laid aside all rules of play writing, but it seems that he has given theatregoers just what they were seeking, inasmuch as the piece enjoyed a record-breaking run at the Lyric Theatre, New York. Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago will be the only cities visited this season, after which the play will open an indefinite engagement at the Savoy Theatre, London, with the cast intact, made as programmed for the local engagement.

It is a story of love, intrigue and mystery which even the Secret Service could not unravel; as a matter of fact the audience may write their own climax. The author has left to the imagination the final ending. If V. Cromport could make you happy by burying "Ruth" in the sweet "little mother" you may have it that way. If you would see him back in the arms of his former "vampire" wife, you have the privilege. But according to advance information, you are sure to have it one way or the other, and if you are seeking a superdramatic birth, here is one hundred and fifty of them in so many minutes.

George Probert heads a splendid cast comprising—Jean Stuart, Benedict MacQuarrie, Vivian Allen, Joseph Shaylor, Henry Redding, David Knudson, Herbert Ashton, Arthur LeVine, Grant Sherman and E. L. Duane.

The facts are these. We have too much stock on hand. We are compelled to unload. Although the goods are all new and desirable we have made the prices so low that the good news spreads from one person to another by word of mouth and because no one is disappointed when they come to this store.

Are We to See This Again?

Take a look at the sugar line, perhaps you might have been in this single file sugar hunting battalion on Pleasant street on January 2, 1918, or you may have had some one else standing in the cold biting because the grocery clerks were so slow in dealing out the much sought product.

This is one of the many things the Kaiser caused in his attempt to conquer the armies of the world.

You may have to get in line again judging from the present outlook, but who will you blame this time? This line extended from State street nearly to Haven Park.

BROOKLYN POLICE TURN TO ROBBING

Help Crooks and Theft of Vast Amount of Goods Is Thus Carried Out.

New York, Dec. 17.—Thefts of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of goods, planned by burglars in active cooperation with policemen, have been executed in the past six months in Brooklyn, District Attorney Lewis asserted today in a statement declaring that "Patrolman Herman Crause instigated a $12,000 robbery of a manufacturing furrier's plant, Nov. 30.

Crause and Peter Rueger, another policeman, were arrested yesterday in connection with this theft.

Lewis attributed the "hundreds of thousands of dollars" robberies to the same gang of burglars working with the "aid and under the protection of one of a group of Brooklyn policemen. The operations of the clique "reached over into Manhattan," Lewis added.

"The arrest of Crause and Rueger is the third instance recently in which Brooklyn policemen have been taken into custody in connection with thefts. Following the arrest a few days ago of a patrolman charged with holding up a sailor on the street and robbing him of $18, Patrolman Louis J. Horst was captured by a brother officer early today after it is alleged he had "blundered" his way into a showense and stolen women's apparel.

A WORD TO DISABLED SOLDIERS.

Every man who was in the military or naval service of the United States during the late war, and who on account of such service is not physically fitted to engage at once in a gainful occupation should at once notify the Bureau of War Risk Insurance in Washington, D. C.

Under the law this Bureau is charged with providing for service men discharged because of disability incurred in active service in the line of duty, compensation and free medical treatment until such time as they are restored to physical fitness. During the summer of 1918 there was a general coming out of the military training camps of the country in an effort to bring up the standard of physical fitness, and many men discharged at that time may be unaware of their rights under an act of Congress to compensation for disability and medical attention and hospital treatment where necessary. All cases of this or of the nature should be brought immediately to the attention of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

ADDED A FEW MORE MILLIONS TO H. C. L.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The cost of living has been increased $940,000,000 by the action of Attorney General Palmer in fixing the price of Louisiana sugar at 17 cents a pound for yellow clarified and 18 cents for granulated, according to Congressman George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts, who addressed the House today, speaking on his resolution requiring the Attorney General to give his authority for fixing of the price of the staple.

Mr. Tinkham declared Attorney General Palmer in whom the public has relied for the Government's action to reduce the cost of living has thus far accomplished nothing to lower food costs. "By fixing the price of Louisiana sugar, however," said Mr. Tinkham, "the Attorney General has increased the price of this staple about 100 percent."

He charged that the attorney general had been guilty of one of two violations of the law. "If he fixed the price he exceeded his authority," said Mr. Tinkham. "On the other hand, if he told the Louisiana planters what price would be approved by the Department of Justice he gave an opinion in advance of legal action. He told the planters how far they could go without being prosecuted, which is expressly prohibited by statute."

Representative Byrnes, Democrat, South Carolina, said private interests offered from 25 to 27 cents a pound for the Louisiana crop and that the arbitrary price of 17 and 18 cents were fixed by Mr. Palmer when the sugar growers asked at what price it could be sold.

"What the attorney general actually did" said Representative Byrnes, "was to save millions of dollars for the American people."

SWEDISH WARSHIP TO VISIT NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 18.—For the first time in 12 years, a Swedish war vessel is due to arrive here today. The vessel is the battle cruiser Fylgia, which will remain here until Jan. 3, after which she will visit ports of the West Indies and call at Havana, Colon and Panama.

It was the Fylgia that was here in 1907 and on that occasion she had on board Prince Wilhelm, who visited several of the larger cities of this country.

The ship will be received by Swedish diplomatic officials and a series of entertainments have been arranged for the officers and crew during her stay in port.

GERMANS BEGINNING TO SEE LIGHT

Berlin, Dec. 18.—The signing of the 12 German servants and professors who signed on October 11, 1911, the famous manifesto attempting to justify Germany's course in the war, now realize that they made a "terrible mistake," Stern, however, adhere to their belief that the manifesto was drawn up in accordance with facts.

This has been disclosed by a canvass of the 78 living exponents of German culture who signed the manifesto. This has just been conducted by Dr. Huns Wehberg.

Dr. Wehberg reports that 39 signers of the celebrated document have admitted to him that today they no longer maintain all of the assertions therein made could be maintained. Many of them, he says, insist that they did not correctly read or understand the paper when they affixed their signatures to it or allowed them to be attached.

Some of these already expressed their regret that they signed the statement and eight of them have withdrawn their signatures since Dr. Wehberg began his investigation. These eight are Lutz Brentano, Felix von Weingartner, Herbert Eidenberg, W. Peorster, Von Kautbach and the theologians Schmidt, Hermann and Munnbach.

Writing to Dr. Wehberg, Herbert Eidenberg said that the 39 men who signed the manifesto at the beginning of the war then believed that Germany had been attacked underhandedly and that the country merely availed itself of its right of self-defense.

Professor Brentano has declared that he was urged by telegraph to affix his signature to be appended, that he assented only to regret it bitterly after he saw the text of the paper. Felix Weingartner writes in a similar vein.

Of the 78 living scientists and professors, Dr. Wehberg received replies from 55. Sixteen who stood by their guns and declared their adherence to their original standpoint include Hegelried Wagner, Eduard Meyer, Doerpfeld and Leuz.

One of the sixteen replied that he had read the manifesto again, sentence by sentence, and had not found a single one which, according to his knowledge, of the situation, could not be signed today. Twenty-three of the signers did not reply to Dr. Wehberg's inquiry.

The manifesto was originated, asserts Dr. Wehberg, by a small group of professors and artists including Ernst Plecher, Fuld, Harneck, Hammerich, Max Liebermann, von List, Rolke, Riehl and Schmoller. They obtained the signatures of the others chiefly by "kissed the signing but many were restrained by false pride from publicly admitting their "error of judgment."

The issuance of the manifesto is characterized by Dr. Wehberg as a "terrible mistake which has brought harm to Germany." After the first excitement of the war, he adds, the belief of the savants genuinely re-

Sound Talk by Mr. Schwab.

When a business man of the experience and standing of Charles M. Schwab speaks on labor matters he is entitled to be heard. Mr. Schwab has been prominent in the steel industry for many years and is now chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel Company.

In an address in New York a few nights ago Mr. Schwab had something to say about Bolshevism with which all thinking men will agree. He declared he did not think the world, and especially America, would be overturned by Bolshevism, and added: "The more the Bolshevists talk and threaten destruction the more will our people see through all the sophistry preached to them and stand as adamant for America continuing to be a land of law, of order and of opportunity."

And Mr. Schwab's view on the labor question are of interest. He is little impressed by the theorizing about labor and capital and does not believe that the world is to be suddenly changed by an academic solution of, or resolutions about, the labor question. He believes it the duty of employers to afford the largest opportunity possible for employment, to recognize the right of employees to deal collectively and to work under a system which will give them their fair share of the profits of the business.

This is in line with what many are considering at the present time as a remedy for the unrest which is disturbing industry and threatening results which would be disastrous to all concerned, the public included. Just how the matter will be worked out no one can now definitely state, but all should be ready to acknowledge that the seasaw of advancing wages and rising prices will never solve the problem, no matter how long it may be kept up.

To evolve a plan for putting new and progressive ideas into practice is the work of men thoroughly familiar with industry from the viewpoints of capital and labor alike. It will be no small task, but if attacked in the right spirit and sufficient determination it will be accomplished and we shall have a reign of industrial peace with its consequent prosperity and contentment. At the same time Bolshevism will awaken to the fact that this is a country too enlightened for the successful promulgation of its hideous doctrines and will sink back into the shadows whence it came.

It is heartening to know that men of broad calibre are studying these questions, which so vitally affect all classes of the population. It is well to bear in mind that it is useless to look for an "academic solution." It is a problem that must be worked out with patience and perseverance, and this can be done when it is recognized that the real interests of capital and labor lie in peace rather than contention, and the efforts of either to override the other are relegated to the rear.

Weather Prophet De Voe of New Jersey is out with the prediction that this will be a short winter with only occasional extreme cold spells of brief duration. He says the coldest weather of the winter will prevail between December 15 and Christmas, a prediction that has been well backed up by the temperature of the last few days.

It may be a green Christmas, though it doesn't look like it now, but it certainly will not be a "wet" one as viewed from the alcoholic standpoint. To many it will be a decidedly blue one.

Lawrence, Mass., is certainly having its troubles. President Wood of the American Woolen Company still threatens to go ahead with his big store project unless the profiteering merchants haul in their horns, the city has recently been declared to be the headquarters of a gang of crooks, and last Sunday the police broke up a Sunday school in which it is charged that "Red" doctrines were being inculcated.

ANOTHER GREAT MUSICIAN DEAD

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Dec. 19.—Cicelynn Campanini, director general of the Chicago Grand Opera Co., died of pneumonia this morning. Campanini was in a weakened condition when he came to direct operations for the opening of the Grand Opera season on Nov. 20th. At that time it was not thought that his illness was serious. A few days after the opera season began his condition became worse and he was confined to his room under treatment of his physician. He gradually grew weaker and three weeks ago was removed to a hospital. There pneumonia developed and a weakened heart defeated efforts of four physicians to aid in his recovery. Campanini was born Sept. 1, 1860, in Parma, Italy.

NEW HOME FOR THE FORMER T. W. PRIEST

Bath, Me., Dec. 18.—The Bath Veterans' Association has secured new quarters for its headquarters, the Senator Baxter, on Summer street in the building formerly occupied by Hark, the painter. The association will occupy both floors of the building, using the lower floor for the housing of the handicapped and the upper for meetings and social gatherings. The Senator Baxter will be ready for emergency calls at all times and will be kept in the best of condition.—Portland Express.

The Senator Baxter was formerly the True W. Priest of this city and the report that she will be ready at all times for emergency calls brings to mind the days when the "old vats" of Portsmouth stood ready for a call with steady hands gripped to the hauling rope of the famous old tub in her quarters off Market Square.

Although the yard basket ball team lost out in its first game against Dover on Thursday night the team showed the spectators that it knew the game and played it well.

It was the hardest game Dover has won since the team in that city was organized. The Portsmouth team is in no way discouraged over this initial defeat and the game as a whole in Dover is a credit to this branch of sport and the five from the navy yard.

ALBERT C. LAKE IS NOW ENSIGN

New Hampshire men are making good in the navy as is proven in the case of Albert C. Lake of Hamstead, who enlisted at Portsmouth as a first class seaman on April 19, 1917. He was assigned to the Portsmouth navy yard and later sent to Boston harbor for training in the Franklin Island training station. In November of the same year he was transferred to the aviation section of the navy and sent to the Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Mass. After the completion of his two year course there, he was ordered to Pensacola, Fla., on May 3, 1918, for advanced work and in July of this year was commissioned an ensign in the aviation arm of the regular navy, and assigned to San Diego, Cal., where he has been on duty ever since.

SCHOOLS GIVE CHRISTMAS PROGRAMS

The public schools close today for the holiday vacation and in the lower grades those were Christmas celebrations or special exercises appropriate for the Yuletide season.

At the Lafayette school the rooms were festive in their Christmas adornings and in each room was a Christmas tree, the children taking pride in arranging the decorations. This forenoon at 11 o'clock the pupils from the fourth grade up gathered in the upper hall and sang Christmas carols. This afternoon the fifth grade gave a play and all the classes of the school held informal parties. The kindergarten held a Christmas party this forenoon with fitting exercises planned by the teacher, Miss Margaret Rand. A large number of the parents were present and received gifts from the tree which the children had made.

This afternoon the fourth and fifth grades of the Lafayette school visited the Portsmouth hospital and Wentworth Home, and sang carols.

At the Haven School there were exercises in all the rooms and in several there were Christmas trees. In other rooms there were plays and dramatizations. Christmas carols were a part of all the programs. In the kindergarten room Miss Anna Rand, the teacher, gave a Christmas party and gifts made by the children were presented to the parents.

At the Whipple School this afternoon Christmas exercises were held. The rooms were decorated by the pupils with Christmas greenery and a tree in each room added the finishing touch. A pleasing program was presented this afternoon a number of parents and friends were present. The children exchanged gifts, none of which were supposed to be more than the value of a dime. Dramatizations and carol singing featured the occasion.

The children of the Fremont School gave a Round Robin entertainment this afternoon, going from room to room, which was most pleasing. The rooms were prettily adorned with Christmas greens and pictures and a Christmas tree attracted no little attention. An original play was presented by the pupils of one of the rooms. This forenoon the Junior class of the training school visited the rooms in the building and told the pupils Dickens' Christmas story and Kate Douglas Wiggin's "Christmas Carol".

The school at Atlantic Heights held Christmas festivities this afternoon and the teachers, Misses Madeline Paul, Bertha Chapman and Pearl Hunt, arranged an interesting order of exercises. A Christmas play was given and a handsomely decorated tree added to the interest of the occasion. This school has about 120 pupils and parents and friends were in attendance in goodly numbers.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS FINE BASKET-BALL SCHEDULE

The Manager Burnham E. Averill of the high school basketball team has arranged its schedule for this season and it is by far the best schedule the school team has ever secured. It included such teams as the Allen Military school of Newton, the strong Bridgewater team, and the Weymouth High school, Dunbar Academy, Haverhill High and Laconia are also strong teams.

The high school will play their first home game this evening at the Y. M. C. A. when they meet the Dover H. S. They have been spoiled up since their defeat by the St. Joseph's team at Manchester and should show a fast brand of basketball. The game will be called at 8.15 and the team should have a good crowd out to give it the necessary support.

The playing schedule:
Dec. 12—Portsmouth vs. St. Joseph's H. S. at Manchester.
Dec. 19—Dover at Portsmouth.
Dec. 21—Portsmouth at West Bridgewater, Mass.
Jan. 1—Portsmouth at Weymouth, Mass.
Jan. 4—Portsmouth at Bridgewater, Mass.
Jan. 9—St. Joseph's H. S. of Manchester at Portsmouth.
Jan. 10—Open.
Jan. 11—Dunbar Academy at Portsmouth.
Jan. 17—Portsmouth at Laconia.
Jan. 24—Pending (Tabor Seminary at Portsmouth).
Jan. 28—Beverly Academy at Portsmouth.
Jan. 31—Portsmouth at Allen Military School at West Newton, Mass.
Feb. 4—Portsmouth at Dunbar Academy.
Feb. 7—Laconia at Portsmouth.
Feb. 11—Open.
Feb. 13—Portsmouth at Haverhill.
Feb. 18—Open.
Feb. 21—Pending.
March 6—Allen Military School at Portsmouth.
March 12—Laconia at Portsmouth.
March 13—Portsmouth at Gloucester.
March 20—Open.
March 24—Open.
March 27—Gloucester at Portsmouth.
Later a few games more are to be included in this schedule as the team is likely to go as far down in New England as Rhode Island and Connecticut.

LOOKING THEM OVER WITH THE SPORT FAN

While the wrestling enthusiasts of Portsmouth may have seen more scientific wrestling matches than that between Kilonis and Parrelli at Freeman's hall last night, it is doubtful if a harder fought or as rough a match has ever been staged here. The wild antics of Parrelli kept the spectators on edge at all times and Kilonis never worked any harder in his life to win.

At Nelson, formerly of this city, now of Manchester, will appear in the feature bout of 12 rounds tonight before the Commercial A. C. Boston. His opponent will be Art McGill of Boston.

Manager Henry Cragin of the Portsmouth professional basketball team announces that the next game will be with the team Worcester Independents. The game will take place at Freeman's hall and it has been found that the Armory is not suited to the fast action of ball put up by the stronger teams.

On Christmas afternoon at Frank N. H. Harry Katron of Portland and Eugene Tremblay of Montreal will attempt to pin each other to the mat. Katron has posted $50 as a guarantee that he will make 142 rounds.

A professional basketball team has been organized at Manchester and is maintained and managed by Micky Belcher, the former Colby college player.

Has there ever been a higher three ring performance in Portsmouth than that of 168, 121, 105-144. That's how Harold Nute rolled in the sensational contest at the Bull alley. In Boston the other evening, it's an average of 148 per string.

Eddie Fitzsimmons is in again. Eddie is all will remember, was the partner of Kloby Corcoran in that prize outdoor fight at Lawrence, Mass. Early last fall and Eddie was pretty much to blame for a part of the entire affair. Now they are receiving Benny Leonard of eighteenth prize on account of his being a southpaw and a hard hitter. Eddie is a hard hitter no doubt, but he will find swapping wallops with boxes of Corcoran's caliber and that of Leonard, a different proposition.

KILONIS DEFEATS PARRELLI IN A ROUGH MATCH

John Kilonis defeated Joe Parrelli before a big crowd of wrestling fans at Freeman's hall on Thursday evening. It was a big crowd considering the weather was down to zero and this prevented many from the outlying districts from coming in.

It was a rough bout for the wild Italian wrestler does not give anybody breathing time while in the ring with him. He is not by any means the wrestler that Kilonis is, but he is a rough aggressive lad with great strength and unquelled confidence and courage, and without any exception the roughest wrestler who is in the mat today.

There is nothing that he will not try, once and he introduced some new modes of defense, new even to the wrestling fans of this city. Both men used all of the punishing holds they could think of and in addition were not adverse to kicking when the occasion presented itself.

Against a man of Parrelli's type Kilonis does not show up as well as against men of Dryden and Garden's style of wrestling and men who know the game. There is no question but what Kilonis is one of the best men of his weight in the world with a fine knowledge of all of the holds and a man who is always in perfect condition and has wonderful endurance.

The first fall went to Parrelli, who secured a toe hold, one of many and Kilonis gave in after 28 minutes of hard work.

The second fall went to Kilonis in 25 minutes with one of his famous giant swings. He kept after Parrelli hard in this period and several times looked as though he would gain a fall from a technique, but the Italian always managed to wriggle out. He finally caught him right for the giant swing and after whirling him several times dropped on him for a fall and for a few seconds neither man could get their bearings.

The third fall was made after the toughest period of the match with Kilonis after the Italian every minute and he finally rolled him into a combination full body and a leg hold from which the Italian was unable to escape. The time was 28 minutes.

The crowd last evening shows that this city is a great wrestling town and there is no question but it would support some of the best men in the country. Arrangements are being made to stage a bout between Kilonis and Ketchen the present holder of the middle weight title, the bout to be at card weights.

DOVER TAKES GAME FROM NAVY YARD

Dover's American Legion basketball team defeated the Portsmouth navy yard last night at Dover by a score of 34 to 26. This makes Dover's sixth straight victory. Feature players for Dover were Bock and Beardon. The Navy Yard stars were Timmons and Walte. The Navy Yard led by two points at the end of the second period, but a sensational rally by Dover brought in 20 in the final period against four by Portsmouth. The game was fast and exciting throughout.

SHEVELIN AND DOYLE BOX TO A DRAW

Boston, Dec. 19—Paul Doyle of New York and Eddie Shevelin of Roxbury fought a 12-round draw at Mechanics building last night and the decision satisfied the majority of the fans. Shevelin's friends complained, but he was lucky to get a draw. He had the honors in only three rounds. Two of the rounds were even and Doyle had a shade in the rest.

LEGISLATURE CONSENTS TO AID OF ST. RAILROADS

Three years have been consumed in the construction of the mammoth "hole in the ground" and aside from the delays incident to the war, the record for fast construction has not been equalled in this country in similar work. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has built the drydock on a solid ledge in the South Boston waterfront, adjacent to the main ship channel and the reserved channel, alongside of which the $25,000,000 Boston Army Supply Base is located.

Work on the drydock was started three years ago by the directors of the port of Boston and subsequently carried on by the Waterways Commission when it took over the duties of the former State department under the consolidation of the directors and the Harbor and Land Commission. It will cost the State more than $3,000,000, and will accommodate the largest vessel float. It will hold fifty-five million gallons of water. It was founded for the first time on June 11 last, when Governor Coolidge pressed a button that admitted the water of the harbor.

The drydock has been sold to the national government for use by the Navy Department, the price being $4,000,000. This included, besides the drydock, a large tract of State land adjoining, which the Navy will eventually use for a big ship repair plant and docking facilities. The purchase price has not yet been paid the State but the State should complete the building of the dock and make it ready for business first.

The drydock is 1170 feet long and 14 feet 9 inches deep. Depth over the sill at low water is 35 feet. The size of the largest ship that can be docked is 1150 length between uprights, 115 feet beam and 45 feet draft at high tide. Materials of which the dock is constructed are concrete for the side walls with complete granite facings. Between the dry dock and the main ship channel running from the sea up to the business district of Boston, the approach has been dredged to a depth of 37 feet. The Navy plans to construct two wet docks adjacent for berthing ships, while they are waiting to be docked and for repairs on ships after flotation.

ANARCHIST A
DANGEROUS ALIENPublic Library Books Made Him Bad, He Says.

New York, Dec. 18.—Thomas Bukhanov, the 17-year-old self-confessed schoolboy anarchist now on Ellis Island awaiting deportation to Russia as a dangerous alien, who says he obtained his "education" in radicalism from books obtained at the New York Public Library, in an interview with a representative of The Associated Press, indicated that a real menace to American institutions rests upon many a free bookshelf.

"Some rich men have unwittingly aided the spread of revolutionary doctrines," he said, referring to the millions invested in libraries all over the English-speaking world. "I had no trouble in obtaining the radical books I desired, printed in Russia, from the 6th street and Lexington avenue branch of the New York Public Library."

The youth who, shortly after graduating from a New York public school, became the secretary of the Union of Russian Workers' Local, an anarchist organization in Brooklyn with a membership of 150, discussed with perfect frankness the causes which had led him to his impending banishment from the United States. The first step, he said, had been socialism, a theory favored by some of the teachers in his school. It was not radical enough, he said, and so he took up anarchism.

Bukhanov would prove a study for the psychologist. He is more than ordinarily intelligent and quick-witted. A smile of light blue eyes peer from beneath a shock of very light brown hair and when he smiles he shows a fine set of well-kept teeth. Well-dressed and supplied with an abundance of cigarettes he expressed contentment with his lot and hoped he would soon be sent to Russia where, he said, there were anarchist communities. The necessity of leaving his mother and two sisters, one of whom is a student in a Brooklyn high school and one of whom shares his views, caused him few regrets, he said, because "one must be willing to sacrifice himself for a cause."

The prisoner came to the United States from Volhynia in the Ukraine, or "Little Russia," with his mother in 1912 when ten years old. His father, a Russian publicist, is dead. "The five years he attended a New York public school graduating in 1917. He had been taught the usual branches including a knowledge of the United States constitution. He said he had no use for governments of any kind because they were all "dishonest." Upon leaving school Bukhanov obtained employment at what he said was fair wages. His home life, he declared, was happy.

"I was working in a machine shop for $21.00 a week and would have received a good rate," said Bukhanov laughingly as he discussed his plight. The boy's manner was earnest, almost eager, to answer questions. His parents, he said, had been members of the Greek Catholic church but he had never been very religious. He could not understand, he said, if there was a God why there was so much evil in the world.

"I slept last night," he went on with a lot of merriment and robbled out a line able to take care of myself," Bukhanov recounted with some violence of pride an experience he had had when he was chief monitor in school. Five or six boys attacked him. "I knocked out two of them," he chuckled "and the others beat it."

Bukhanov said few of the boys and girls in school entertained the views he did. Most of them preferred to spend their leisure time at the movies. He liked to read history, philosophy, sociology and economics.

"My first book of this kind was one by Tolstoy, a mild, good man, but a dreamer, he offered no solution except Christianity and that I do not accept. Then I read, at other places, Kropotkin's 'Bread and Freedom,' Bakunin's 'God and the State,' Novinsky's 'What is Anarchism?' Alexander Berkman's 'Prison Memoirs of an Anarchist,' and Max Stirner's 'The Individual and His Property.' They gave me my first desire to help emancipate the working class by educating it to realize its own interest. I also read the works of an Italian anarchist as well as Emma Goldman's 'Mother Earth.'"

The boy said he had no sympathy for Bolshevism because it represented a form of government or authority for which he professed contempt. He admitted, however, that a few weeks ago he participated in a parade of Russian radicals up Fifth avenue which was broken up by the police amid scenes of wild disorder. The paraders either refused to take out or did not possess a necessary police permit.

When told that statistics showed that more than 181,000,000 Russians could neither read or write, Bukhanov said he wanted to go back to Russia. Just the same, "to help them," he said he had no use for any government even though it protected his life and property, enabled him to earn a good living and to dwell in peace and comfort. He said a police or fire department, street cleaning system, water works, lighting system or any other public service would be acceptable to him if they did not involve the exercise of "authority." And yet Bukhanov was reputed to have been an orderly boy in school.

E. H. Anderson, director of the New York Public Library, in a statement regarding Bukhanov's charges that he had obtained anarchist literature from one of the library branches, said he had been unable to find the books Bukhanov mentioned listed in the catalogue. Certain work by Kropotkin and other similar writers, he said, printed in Russian, were undoubtedly on the shelves but they were not "incendiary or seditious" and were books of high literary value.

BY MAD DOG

Portland, Me., Dec. 18.—Policeman Brown fired seven shots into a mad dog, shot in a vacant office in the Grand Trunk Railway station while men and women clerks almost started a panic. All the ground floor offices were vacated, barred or the inmates clambered on chairs, desks and filing cabinets until the officer was summoned, who the revolver came into play after the animal had been driven into an office, where it made vain attempts to escape through a narrow aperture while the officer, plugged him.

ALLIES TO MAKE PEACE WITH TURKEY

Will Not Wait For United States to Accept Share in the Christian Guardianship of the Near East

(By Associated Press)

London, Dec. 18.—Without any disrespect or any desire to deprive the Americans of their share in the Christian guardianship of the near east the allies are to make a peace with Turkey at an early date Lloyd George informed the House of Commons this evening. He said that there was a complete agreement on the part of the allies in regard to no intervention in Russia, but there is an understanding which would mean action if the spread of Bolsheviki's beyond certain points was brought about.

He said that it was impossible to make peace with Russia on account of the civil war that prevailed there. If the Bolsheviks wanted to speak for Russia, they must first form a national convention along broad lines which will be stable and be the will of the people.

The agreement against the wanton invasion of France is subject to the ratification of the United States. If the United States should refuse to ratify the agreement then England would be left free to make any agreement they think best.

A PROBLEM OF PEACE

During the world war more than four and a half million of our soldiers, sailors and marines had their lives insured by the United States government for a term of five years, in sums ranging from $1000 to $10,000, the average policy approximating $5,700. Because of the rapid demobilization and the confusion attending a resumption of civil life, a great many of those who were insured have allowed their insurance to lapse or be cancelled. The problem now is to get them back.

Co-operating with the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance in a general educational campaign are leading social welfare organizations and thousands of volunteer units, making up an enormous field force for spreading the gospel of permanent government insurance.

This insurance is not for everyone. It is only for the former service men and women of our army, navy and marine corps. Congress wanted them to enjoy certain privileges of life insurance protection during the war, and it wants them to continue the protection now that peace has come.

GERMAN GUNS BEING SHIPPED TO MEXICO

Coblenz, Dec. 18. (Associated Press)—Two shipments of machine guns and accessories being sent to Mexico from Germany and discovered in transit across Holland, have been held up by the Allied military authorities, according to American officials here. Exportation of war material by Germany is a violation of the armistice and treaty. The German Government has been asked to explain and notified not to repeat.

The first shipment was four carloads of second-hand guns, boxed and ready for ocean transport. This was 2625 machine guns, an, according to Foch the guns arrived in Holland Nov. 28, the guns being one item of Hockelmann and Senelgrun of Cassel. The consignment was the Johann Mants Arms and Trading Company of Amsterdam. Marshal Foch has information showing that the shipments had been made "across Holland, with destination Mexico." Marshal Foch says that bills of lading indicate that these shipments were not "across occupied regions."

The second shipment consisted of one car containing twenty-seven cases of machine-gun accessories, 23,000 pounds. It arrived in Holland, according to Foch on Nov. 29 from Germany and was consigned to Mexico. Disposition of guns and accessories is with Dutch and American officials.

The building, which is 11 stories high, is to be used by the Shipping Board to house the New York staff of the divisions of operations, treasury, accounting and repairs. FINDS PAPERS BY DEAD WIFE'S AID

Rev. R. H. Conwell Tells His Congregation of Strange Visitations.

Philadelphia, Dec. 18.—The announcement by the Rev. Russell H. Conwell recently that his second wife, who was Miss Sarah Sandborn of Massachusetts, had reappeared to him from the dead, and that as a result of the visitation she had been enabled to locate some missing papers, is causing much speculation among members of the Grace Baptist church. Dr. Conwell, while not classed by his acquaintances as a spiritualist, believes that spiritual manifestations are established facts, but nevertheless he is unprepared to say whether the apparition of his late wife was such a manifestation or a dream.

Dr. Conwell, who is the founder and president of Temple University, recently told from the pulpit how, after the death of the second Mrs. Conwell, she had appeared to him on three successive nights.

"I received three strange visits from my wife," he said. "On three successive nights she seemed to come and all on the side of the bed which I occupied."

"While sitting there she gave me valuable information relating to several important papers which I knew were in the house, but which I could not locate."

"It may have been a dream, but I got out of bed, immediately after receiving the instructions and found the papers just where she said they were."

"It may have been thought transference," he added. "I have never been able to decide what it was. But I do know that I was unable to locate those papers until I received the message from my wife."

Members of Dr. Conwell's household explained that he would not care to be known as a spiritualist, but that he had frequently expressed the idea that there was ever a guiding spirit hovering over the life of individuals and that frequently this guiding spirit took the form of a departed loved one.

HOW TO SAVE BY MARKETING

In some sections of the state live stock is being offered at exceptionally low prices, especially yearlings and two-year olds, and even new milch cows are not finding ready sale in many localities. The low prices offered for live stock and the high price and scarcity of hay and farm labor in many sections are making it exceedingly hard for some farmers to decide what is best to do; whether to buy hay at present prices, or to sell their surplus stock for less than the cost of production. Some dealers have stopped buying cattle entirely; while others are shipping only a limited number of new milch cows to the Brighton stockyards. They have found it hard to comply with the new Federal regulations for the shipment of livestock and so have left the farmer to dispose of his stock as best he can.

The Market Bureau, realizing the seriousness of this condition, has started a campaign to aid farmers in marketing their surplus livestock and to direct them in purchasing hay and roughage. While stockmen in one section are anxious to sell, those in other sections, having plenty of hay, are glad to buy when they have such opportunities. The farmer, by advising the Market Bureau when he desires to sell or purchase stock, will be aided by this service.

Community auctions and live stock shipping associations are other methods which will be found practical in disposing of live stock. A community auction could be successfully handled where there is enough stock to make an attractive sale. Each farmer should list the animals he desires to dispose of with a local man in charge of the sale who should secure good livestock auctioneer and thoroughly advertise the sale. The expense of such

Washington, Dec. 18.—The Senate held its fifth night session on the railroad bill and there were many doubts expressed tonight if the measure could be debated in time for the holiday recess by Saturday night. The

The Little Candles

Beacon Hill is a land of true romance on Christmas Eve. Candles beam from almost every window and every ray of light shines out with a message of Christmas cheer and fellowship.

Christmas gifts should express in a more personal way the kindness of which these little candles are the sign and symbol. Thought must be put into the selection of every gift. The taste and personality of each person must be considered.

Surely the deep appreciation which follows sincere efforts to please more than repays the extra care and attention required. Remember, too, that our salespeople are trained to give you help in any and all of your gift problems. Christmas time is the time of all others when you will find our one hundred and nineteen years of experience most helpful.

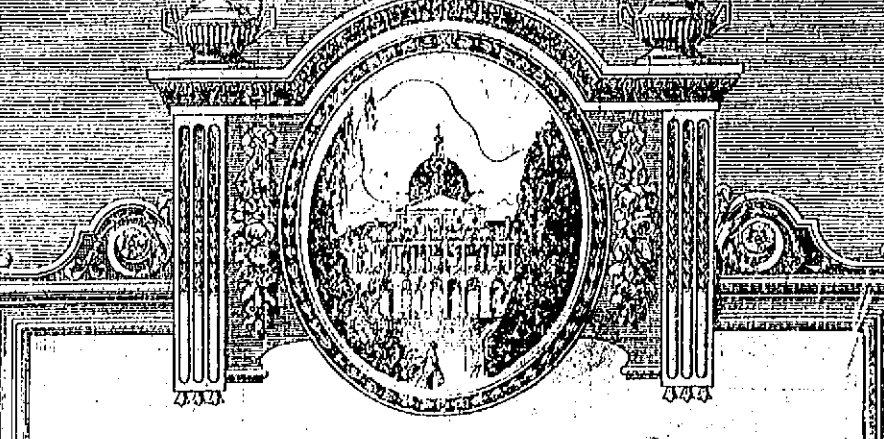

So many years of public attention to the likes and dislikes of all ages and types of people have made us gift-wise. The passing years have brought about many changes in Christmas gifts, but our stock has kept pace with them all.

We are sure, therefore, that those gifts which you select from our shop will please on Christmas Day and every day thereafter.

PREDICTS SHORT AND OPEN WINTER

Hackensack Prophet Sees Only Brief Cold Spells.

New York, Dec. 17.—Prof. Andrew J. De Voe, the Hackensack, N. J., weather prophet, predicts a short winter with only occasional spells of really cold weather. His forecasts are said to be more nearly correct than those given out by the Weather Bureau.

"The coldest weather of the winter will prevail between Dec. 15 and Dec. 25, with Christmas day cloudy," said De Voe recently.

"This cold spell will be followed by rain, clearing off cold again about Dec. 28."

"January, 1920, will come in very cold and continue up to Jan. 3, when winter practically will break up. Of course, I expect cold weather up until March 1, but it will be in short spells, with rain prevailing most of the time."

"Those who have led to cut back better plan to get it in between January 3 and 6, for the rain will make the work disagreeable after that date."

"Last September, in a letter to Prof. Burdick, replying to an invitation to speak before the Polytechnic Institute in New York, Dec. 8, I told him that great snow storms would prevail in Europe during December, and I see that the Mayor of Berlin is advertising for men to clear the streets of snow."

"My calendar shows these forecasts: Dec. 11 to 12, cloudy and cold; Dec. 13, storm foggy over South Atlantic states; Dec. 14 and 15, rain or snow; Dec. 16, cold wave, foggy over Ohio Valley; Dec. 17 to 25, lightest spell of cold weather of winter."

STATE OWNERSHIP OF ALL BOOZE

Carlisle, England, Dec. 16.—A campaign for the nationalization and manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor was inaugurated a few days ago at an important trade union and labor conference here.

J. H. Thomas, member of parliament and general secretary of the Union of Railway Men, supported a resolution urging all labor parties and trades councils to demand the extension of the principle of state ownership and control of the liquor trade to the whole country.

Mr. Thomas said he believed there was no evil like the "drink evil." "Is there any man or woman," he asked, "who would dare to suggest that our experience during the war would justify the state in letting the drink traffic and the public house return to the old system."

Prohibition, he said, was an alternative to adoption of the brewers' bill. It was his opinion, for the government to deal boldly and comprehensively with the question.

"If you want to keep the drink problem free from politics," he declared, "if you want to take a vested interest out of the region of politics, you can only do it by taking the drink traffic out of the hands of the private ownership."

RECOMMENDS CHANGES IN IMMIGRATION

Washington, Dec. 17.—Creation of an additional office of Assistant Secretary of Labor with jurisdiction over all immigration matters, deportation of alien draft dodgers and strengthening of the border patrol service against undesirable aliens, are among the recommendations made by Commissioner General Campbell of the Immigration Bureau in his annual report.

Suggestions that immigration be suspended completely were opposed by the commissioner on the ground that it would have an "injurious effect" upon our efforts to further American commerce and enterprise in foreign countries.

"Continuance of war-time passport visa regulations and assignment of immigration bureau representatives at consular offices to aid in extending undesirable was urged instead."

Only two aliens were excluded from the United States during the fiscal year on anarchistic grounds, while 37 aliens in the same class were expelled from the country and 55 are now awaiting deportation. To reach American citizenship, the report urges that "the new provisions of the immigration laws be made effective."

Deportation is "not punishment for crime" but merely shows the alien anarchist to be a danger to the country. The report said and added that it was to be hoped "that the lot of the anarchist will not so continue, but that by the common consent of civilized nations something more may be done to provide for his adequate punishment as an international lawbreaker."

An additional Assistant Secretary of Labor together with a larger legal and administrative staff, is recommended on the ground that it "would obviate delays now encountered within the department. The arrest during the year of many inadmissible Japanese, as well as several alien enemies, who had been smuggled into the country, prompted the proposal to strengthen border patrol forces."

"The bureau now has a small force doing effective work along that line on the borders of Canada and Mexico and on our coasts, but this needs to be materially increased," the report said.

"This class of work needs experienced officers who will devote their entire time and all their energies to the task."

A proposed new immigration law, submitted by Mr. Campbell, would put the burden of proof of admissibility upon persons seeking to enter the United States and provide for registration of all aliens and a probationary status for those whose admissibility is not clearly established. The law would add to the excluded class aliens who "practice, advocate, teach, sanction or encourage the extortion of money or property" aimed at members of black hand societies.

Commenting upon the number of "picture brides" who have come to this country from Japan, the report declared the gentlemen's agreement with that country had "not brought the degree of restriction which might have been, and probably was, anticipated by those who took part in the negotiations" but that this result "grows out of the terms of the agreement rather than the manner of its observance."

GERMANY HOPES TO CONTROL DANZIG

Danzig, Dec. 17.—The "Free City of Danzig" as it is to be when the Peace Treaty comes into effect, was enjoying quite a boom into the Allied blockade of the Baltic came into operation. However, as the blockade affects only German shipping, it probably will not bear heavily on this part for the reason that Allied and neutral countries are plying a brisk trade with it.

Preliminary to Danzig's transition, Germany is turning over to the city the government works here, including the big navy yard, railway shops, artillery and rifle plants, aerodromes, barracks and libraries. These, under the terms of the treaty, are to be divided between Danzig and Poland, and the transfer to the city is being carefully watched by Polish residents.

"They assert that it is being made by Germany now in order that the city government may be in actual possession of the properties when the time comes to divide them with Poland."

The treaty is somewhat vague as to the basis on which the division is to be made, and the Poles say that Germany, hopeful of regaining Danzig eventually, will aid the city in every possible way to secure the lion's share.

When the first of the manufacturing establishments was taken over, an effort was made to eliminate Polish employees and substitute German. Appeal was made to Polish officials and they, by threatening to cut off the city from the foodstuffs it receives from Polish farms, succeeded in keeping the Polish workmen in their jobs.

English businessmen are opening banks here and merchants have been busily engaged for months in establishing various enterprises, chiefly shipping.

IRELAND NEEDS MORE ENGINEERS

Dublin, Dec. 17.—Sir John Griffith, Irish engineer, who recently retired from the service of the Dublin port and docks board, in an address delivered in London said that if religious intolerance and political trickery could be banished from Ireland and the land handed over to the control of engineers there would be prospects of industrial progress and contentment.

The lessons of the war for Ireland he considered to be isolation, the importance of her strategic position, and the deficiency of naval bases on her western coast. Another naval base should be formed in Galway bay and a thoroughly equipped harbor built there and this harbor would be available as a deep sea fishing station and as a terminal port for high speed passenger and mail service between America and Europe.

The only remedy for industrial unrest throughout the world he believed to be the adoption of some system of co-operation, co-partnership of profit sharing.

DEMOCRATS ANGRY WITH WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Dec. 17.—Blundering White House diplomacy again has endangered the Peace Treaty, possibly beyond remedy. Instead of communicating officially with the Senate regarding the latest piece of legislation before the country and the world, the President has permitted his secretary, Labor together with a larger legal and administrative staff, is recommended no concessions in the matter of the so-called Lodge reservations, that he will make no effort to bring the treaty before the Senate and that he will let the responsibility for its defeat fall upon the shoulders of the "Republican senators." The effect of this remarkable announcement, delivered in form so unusual as to raise the inquiry whether all steps taken in his name have received the sanction of the President, has been greatest perhaps, among the members of his own party, many of whom are threatening open revolt against such procedure.

A leading Democratic senator, who sought for genuine information as to what could be done to bring about action upon the treaty today gathered the information that the parliamentary status of the issue is that nothing but the most gross violation of the rules can bring the treaty again before the Senate and should the Vice-President rule in such a manner as to defy the expressed will of the Senate he would be voted down promptly. Democratic senators are conferring angrily among themselves as to the procedure they shall pursue, for they realize that nothing further can be expected from the opposition. Not only are they intensely angry over the presidential announcement, but the continued decline of foreign exchange is affecting vitally the prospects of a successful marketing of the cotton crop.

Want Technical Peace

The demand for a technical peace threatens to outweigh any other consideration in the minds of many leading Democrats. They have several courses left open; to propose an acceptance of the Lodge reservations with the preamble changed slightly, to take the treaty as it stands, to accept a resolution separating the League from the peace treaty, or to approve the latest Knox resolution merely declaring the existence of a state of peace. None of these alternatives would be acceptable to President Wilson.

The situation of the League opponents has been strengthened by what appears to be the general belief that European governments, particularly France, are beginning to understand the split in which the Senate has acted in safeguarding American interest and to realize that League or no League the United States can be depended upon to protect itself should the integrity of France or the peace of the world again be menaced by Germany. Assurances to this effect have been given to foreign representatives in a more or less formal manner, and the position of the United States is now seen to be not that of a nation which is or will be indifferent to developments in Europe affecting peace or the safety of any of the Allies, but of a people who decline to place themselves under a super-government against whose creation the Paris Conference had been fully warned.

The net result of all these considerations has been to emphasize the importance of immediate peace and correspondingly to destroy interest in the scheme of a League of Nations.

It is a fact, attested by some of the strongest men on the Democratic side, that had not Senator Hiram Bland, impelled by a sense of duty to object to a vote upon the Knox resolution proposing peace last Saturday night, the Senate would have adopted by unanimous consent the continued for action and nothing more at present. This has been indicated by the fact that nomination originating from the

SPANIARDS COMING TO UNITED STATES

Madrid, Dec. 17.—Large numbers of agricultural workers from all parts of Spain are awaiting at Ferrol and other ports for transportation to America, both North and South. This is one of the results of the new social conditions brought about in Spain by the war, and increased wages.

For years the Spanish farmer had paid his help about three pesetas (normally sixty cents) daily during the harvest. As this was just about sufficient for the employee to sustain upon, the farmer also allowed his men and women sufficient to buy food during the winter. This amount was decided by the farmer himself and varied in proportion to the generosity of the farmer.

Last year the farm hands, like almost every other class of labor in Spain, organized a union with the result that wages during the harvest increased from the century-old three pesetas daily to from fifteen to twenty five pesetas daily. Therefore when the winter came on and there was no work the farmer, instead of following the old convention of handing out doles to his employees, told them as they were now earning good wages they should save sufficient to keep themselves during the winter.

Those who had saved up at least a proportion of their money to move to some country where money could be earned the year around

WANT THE GERMAN POTASH

Berlin, Dec. 17.—American buyers are reported to be negotiating with the German Potash Syndicate for a supply of German potash. The Kuehn theatre says that the progress so far made indicates that Germany soon will deliver a large quantity of the fertilizer to the United States.

Similar negotiations conducted three or four months ago failed, says the paper, because the Americans assumed that the French mines in Alsace would be able to supply them. The paper points out that the potash mines still lack sufficient coal to operate on full-time but says that abundant orders for German potash have been received.

WOUNDED MEN MAY WEAR THE UNIFORM

Washington, Dec. 17.—Senator Walsh of Massachusetts introduced in the Senate Saturday a bill to authorize any person who was wounded while in the military or naval service of the United States during the war with Germany to wear the uniform of the Army, Navy or Marine Corps. The bill provides as follows:

"That any person who has been duly authorized, in accordance with rules and regulations adopted or promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy, to wear a chevrons, insignia, or other distinctive mark for a wound received while in the service of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps during the war with Germany to wear the uniform of the Imperial German Government, including the officers and enlisted personnel of the Coast Guard who served with the Navy during such war, may upon honorable discharge and return to civil life, wear, under such regulations as the Secretary may prescribe, the duly prescribed uniform of the highest rank or grade held by him during such service. Provided, that such uniform shall include some distinctive mark or insignia representing such honorable discharge, to be prescribed by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, respectively."

In explanation of the bill Senator Walsh said:

"I have been moved to introduce this bill because I have noticed with pain that our maimed soldier boys drop out of sight and are lost in the general mass of crippled and unfortunate as soon as the right of wearing the uniform which reminds up of the equus of their misfortune is withdrawn."

"This is not only an injustice to the heroes who have sacrificed in the Nation's cause as much of that which makes life worth living. It is also a distinct loss of patriotic inspiration to us all."

"If this bill is passed, we shall be keeping constantly before us most impressive examples of patriotism and shall also be making some slight compensation, by the respect and honor which the wearing of the uniform with the wound insignia always commands, for the distress and the humiliation which a physical handicap always must bring to its unfortunate victim."

"Early in 1915 his firm was selected to act as commercial agents for the British government in the United States."

GEN. WOOD'S CITIZENSHIP IN KANSAS BY PROCLAMATION MAY BE POLITICAL FACTOR

Born in New Hampshire and brought up and appointed to the army from Massachusetts, General Leonard Wood, candidate for the republican nomination for president, is a citizen of Kansas by proclamation of its governor, certified by its secretary of state.

The citizenship conferred as an honor and in part perhaps as a protest over the refusal of the national administration to permit General Wood to command the Kansas draft division, which he had trained, in its service overseas, may become a political factor. Although General Wood would be entitled to claim Massachusetts, where it is understood he cast his last vote, as his place of residence, he can, in the opinion of his advisers, take advantage of his Kansas citizenship and claim that state as his place of residence, thus capitalizing the sentiment that the republican nominee should come from west of the Allegheny Mountains.

General Wood took command of the 58th Division at Camp Upton in April 1918, after his return from France, where he had been wounded by the explosion of a mortar during the artillery practice back of the lines. At the completion of his training period, he went in command of the division to Camp Mills, L. I., where he found orders awaiting him to proceed to San Francisco to take charge of the Western Department.

General Wood saw the President and the secretary of war in an unsuccessful attempt to get an assignment to active duty overseas. The order to proceed to San Francisco was rescinded and he was sent back to Camp Funston to train a new division, the Tenth, which was ready to go to France when the armistice was signed.

It was immediately after his return to Camp Funston that Arthur Capper, then governor, and now U. S. senator, issued a proclamation making General Wood a citizen of Kansas in recognition of his services in training the 58th Division. General Wood accepted the citizenship in an address to a joint meeting of both houses of the legislature and the original proclamation now hangs in his office at Chicago.

The proclamation, which is a unique document, with decided Kansas characteristics, reads as follows:

"State of Kansas, Governor's office. 'Know all men by these presents': 'Inasmuch as the life of a state, its strength and virtue and moral worth are directly dependent upon the character of the citizens who compose it, and

"Inasmuch as it is a solemn obligation imposed by the governor of this state to promote and advance the interests and well being of the commonwealth in every way consistent with due regard for the rights and the privileges of sister states, and

"Whereas the soldier, Leonard Wood, major general in the U. S. army, and now commandant at Camp Funston, has shown by his daily life, by his devotion to duty, by his high ideals and by his love of country that he is a high minded man after our own hearts, foursquare to all the world, one good to know,

"Now, therefore, I, Arthur Capper, Governor of the State of Kansas, do hereby declare the said Major General Leonard Wood to be, in character, and in ideals, a true Kansan. And by virtue of the esteem and affection the people of Kansas bear him, I do furthermore declare him to be to all intents and purposes a citizen of this state; and as such entitled to speak the Kansas language, to follow Kansas customs, and to be known as citizen extra-dictionary."

"In witness whereof I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Kansas, Done at Topeka, the State capital, this 19th day of December A. D. 1917."

"ARTHUR CAPPER, Governor."

The proclamation is attested by J. T. Baskin, secretary of state, and H. A. Cornell, assistant secretary of state.

Whether General Wood decides to claim citizenship in Kansas or not, he needs to be assured of the support of the delegates from that state to the republican national convention. Governor Henry J. Allen has become vice-chairman of the Wood affair organization, and the sentiment in Kansas is reported to be in favor of the "citizen-extraordinary."

valuable.

"He has done more than risk his fortune in the cause of the Allies; he has also risked his life. His escape from the German assassin who twice wounded him was a narrow one. Englishmen may well rejoice in any honor which can give some satisfaction to Mr. Morgan."

A few women of Richmond, Mass., gathered at the home of one of them, began to equanitate the widows of the town and before they stopped had coupled 90.

Christian Science View of Mortal Body

BY WILLIAM D. KILPATRICK
 William D. Kilpatrick of Detroit, Mich., a graduate of the University of Michigan, practiced law in Michigan for several years. He was also engaged in a large land and timber business in the south. He was located in Christian Science and became a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Christian Science is the restoration to this age of the religion taught and practiced by Jesus the Christ twenty centuries ago. It is the latest and purest, a return to the simple and spiritual teachings of the Holy Bible from Genesis to Revelation.

Mesmerized by the false dogmas of a perverted humanity has all too long permitted itself to be led blindly along the brink of despair and atheism until now it seems ready to at least touch the hem of the garment of true Christianity, founded on the teachings and works of the Master, and with a joy and eagerness and hope born of centuries of weary waiting and fruitless expectancy, like a tired child turns at eventide to a mother's loving arms. It is now turning to an ever present omnipotent God of love and compassion who is learning through Christian Science that man is not a sick, sinning, suffering fallen human being entirely separated from his Maker and set adrift upon an uncharted sea without shore or rudder, subject to all the vagaries of material existence; but that man is as the Bible says he is, the image and likeness of God, inseparable from God and subject alone to God and His law—that law which knows no fear or hindrance, which is eternally harmonious and which is "the same yesterday, today and forever."

Unless an interpretation of Scripture is as demonstrable as a rule of mathematics, it were as well that that interpretation were left unheeded. And herein rests the secret of the marvelous achievements and growth of the Christian Science—on its ability to demonstrate with scientific certainty the interpretation of Scripture.

The necessity for the healing work as a concomitant of spiritual understanding was clearly perceived and understood by the early Christians and for some hundreds of years after the time of Jesus. Those healing works were looked upon as "the signs following" which should characterize all true Christian endeavor.

Christian Science teaches that this mortal body is merely the substratum of the mortal or carnal mind and that when we begin to change our mortal minds through the application and substitution of the divine mind, or God we begin in a corresponding degree to change our mortal bodies from bad, sick, deformed, diseased, sinful bodies to better, healthier and more perfect ones. So when the mortal or carnal mind and body have been completely eliminated and displaced through the substitution of the divine mind, or God, then will man be established and redemonstrated.

found in "the image and likeness of God," dwelling in the divine consciousness of life eternal, without beginning and without end and with heaven his home. To quote from St. Paul: "So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory."

With a full appreciation of the teachings and accomplishments of Christian Science, it is difficult to imagine a more fitting and appropriate name for Mrs. Eddy's discovery than that given it by her, namely, "Christian Science." This discovery of Mrs. Eddy's is demonstrating and proving for the first time since the third or fourth century after the time of Jesus that the words and the works of the Master are based on a divine, demonstrable scientific principle. It is proving to the world that there is a scientific, spiritual and "fact" concerning all things and all phenomena which, when fully understood and rightly applied, will annul every known physical law. This scientific principle, taught and demonstrated in a degree today by Christian Science, is an inviolable law of spirit or divine mind, which always has existed and which always will exist. This law was not invented by Jesus, nor was it invented by Mrs. Eddy or Christian Science. It is an eternal ever present law of God which Jesus came to explain and elucidate and prove, and through Christian Science this law has been restated, re-established and redemonstrated.

NOW IS TIME TO GET TOGETHER

AND GET TO WORK, SAYS C. M. SCHWAB

Situation in America Was Never More Difficult, but Opportunities Were Never So Brilliant—Has No Fear of Bolshevism—Believes Industrial Future Depends on Steel.

"And so I suggest the time has come to get together and get to work. Let us go forward with confidence and determination. Never was the situation more difficult; never were opportunities so brilliant."

Describing in the same breath the necessity and the reward, Charles M. Schwab recently in these words summed up his views on the future in America. He was the principal speaker at the twenty-first annual dinner of the Pennsylvania Society, in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York.

Before a distinguished gathering of Pennsylvanians and their guests, Mr. Schwab, speaking through the spectacles, to use his own expression, of Pennsylvania's greatest industry—that of the production of iron and steel—outlined a picture of great problems and, therefore, of great opportunities that confront the people of America.

Bolshevism does not worry Mr. Schwab—he doesn't see "red." He believes the same common sense element of America labor with threat and effort to break down the basic principles on which America is based. He believes, too, in a square deal for labor, a deal that recognizes the principle of collective bargaining and figures to the worker some share of the profits of the article that he helps to produce.

As might have been expected, Mr. Schwab was generous in praise of his native state, not only for what she has been to the nation, but for what she is and expects to be. He believes her the greatest state in the Union, a sentiment that found enthusiastic echo in the assemblage.

However that may be, there is no question whatever, said Mr. Schwab, that steel is the greatest of the world's industries and that upon the future of steel rests the industrial development of the United States. He said in part: "While the United States produced only 1,000,000 tons of steel in 1880, it produced in each of the years 1917 and 1918, approximately 45,000,000 tons. When the United States Steel Corporation was formed eighteen years ago, the annual steel production of the country was only 12,000,000 tons, and many believed we were then at the zenith of the steel business."

"My own belief is that we are just as far from the zenith today as we were in 1901. There are breakers ahead; there are rapids through which we must pass; but I am one of those who believe in the future progress of the world, of the United States and of Pennsylvania, and that we are soon to have one of the greatest eras of prosperity in all history."

"A good many people these days are feeling red. Some talk as though the whole world is threatened with overthrow by Bolshevism. I am not one of those who talk or think that way. And particularly here in America, I have the greatest confidence in the sound and level-headed common sense of the American workingmen and the American people."

The more the Bolsheviks talk and threaten destruction the more will our people see through all the sophistry preached to them and stand adamant for America, contributing to be a land of law, of order and opportunity. "And so believing in America, with complete faith in the future, the future with which I am associated in going right ahead, turning the war productively to use as fast as possible into the production of peace and enlarging its plants in the belief that there is great work to be done and that we must prepare to do it."

Mr. Schwab said that of all the steel furnished in the United States to our government and those of the Allies during the war fully one-half was supplied by Pennsylvania. He gave figures telling of the guns, ammunition and artillery used during the war and said that during the four years and four months of war the U. S. Steel Corporation alone supplied 19,000,000 tons for war purposes.

Speaking of the shipbuilding situation Mr. Schwab said: "Next to war, munitions, Pennsylvania's greatest material contribution to the war was its production of ships. In 1914 the American shipping registered for foreign trade represented a total of 1,975,000 tons, whereas on June 30, 1919, the total was 5,609,000 tons. I am particularly interested in this subject by virtue of my relationship to shipbuilding during the war and because I am a shipbuilder now."

CHARLES M. SCHWAB AND PARTY AT THE SHATTUCK SHIPYARD.

"We are all gratified at the extraordinary strides which have been made in the development of our merchant marine. But let us not be misled by the superficial indications of the moment and fail to regard the fundamental factors which will ultimately decide whether or not the American flag shall continue to fly on the main head of a growing merchant marine."

"So long as the present shortage of shipbuilding lasts and the pressure of tonnage continues with its present resulting abnormally high freight rates, nothing can prevent a phenomenal increase in American shipping. The real test will come later. When the more orderly economic processes of the entire world have been restored we will find that if present duties, wages and other restrictions upon vessels flying the American flag continue American owners will again transfer their vessels to foreign registry."

"The successful operation of ships is absolutely dependent on those of American registry to compete in expense of operation with foreign bottoms. If the wage item alone under American registry continues to cost, as it does now, under ordinary conditions, in the neighborhood of 40 per cent more than British or Norwegian owned vessels, it is easy to see the outcome of the competition which will prevail when normal conditions are re-established. The future prosperity of the shipping business is vitally dependent on a businesslike facing of this situation.

"I believe that the first and prime need of every man engaged in industry is to get and to keep his own house in order and to secure the confidence and enthusiastic loyalty of his own men. We have great problems to face, great work to do, and our real job is to get out and to get to work, and this applies not alone to the laboring man, but to every man in business, no matter how high up he may be."

"Carlyle, I believe, said that genius is an unlimited capacity for hard work, and there is nothing of which the world is in such great need today as a large amount of that kind of genius."

"We have heard a great deal about the efficiency of the Germans, but I want to tell you from actual experience that the efficiency of the Germans is very largely made up of the kind of genius that Carlyle describes. I understand that the German workmen in some trades have recently decided to work eleven hours a day to endeavor to help the country to pay its war debt. But the intimate opportunity for observing the methods of the great Krupp plant in Germany conceded to be one of the most efficient of armament organizations, convinced me that German efficiency didn't consist in superior knowledge, superior organization or superior equipment, but that it rested solely upon the fact that the German workman was willing to do an honest day's work for a full day's pay. And when Germany again rears her head in competition with the great industrial nations of the world the effectiveness of her competition will primarily rest on just that kind of efficiency."

"An honest day's work for a full day's pay is the supreme thing which it is the duty of every business man and manufacturer not alone to obtain from the workman, but it is no less his duty to make the workman see that just such a performance is the workman's own highest interest."

"It is the duty of every business man to address himself to seeing to it that the largest possible opportunity for employment and work is given to the greatest number of men, and I am myself a firm believer in the fact that the successful employment of labor does now and will in the future more and more rest upon the recognition:

"First, of the right of the men to deal with their employers collectively, and,

"Second, upon the privilege of the men through some kind of profit sharing to obtain a direct share in the profits realized upon the articles they themselves are making."

to be treated as a man of flesh and blood.

"Of course it is impossible for the manager at the head of a great corporation to know personally the rank and file of his men, but it is entirely possible that his men shall elect representatives enjoying their own confidence, and these representatives shall have intimate relationship with the heads of the business and that the heads of the business shall have the kind of personal friendship with these representatives which the heads of the business would like to have with every man in the rank and file."

CAN'T FIND SERVICE MEN.

Nearly one-third of the former service men who were insured by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance cannot be reached by mail at their old home addresses, as shown by the letters returned to the Bureau as undeliverable. This fact shows the state of transition following demobilization of our forces. The problem confronting the Bureau is to find these men and bring home to them the importance of insurance reinstatement, as many soldiers upon discharge from the service, dropped their insurance.

LINERS ALL DELAYED BY BIG STORMS

(By Associated Press)
 New York, Dec. 18.—Substantial evidence of the big storms and high winds which have prevailed off the coast was shown today in the arrival of eight passenger liners with more than 17,000 people. High winds, gigantic waves and cold weather were evidenced from the ice-crested hulls and the still and lead rights.

All of the liners were from three to five days late and one of them arrived in late for docking today.

(By Associated Press)

To the American People

IT is the declared purpose of the United States Government to restore the railroads at an early date to the control of their owners.

The Association of Railway Executives represents those upon whom at that time responsibility will again rest for the prompt and successful movement of the country's commerce.

Those constituting this Association are keenly conscious of their accountability to the public.

They have accordingly determined to present as fully as they can the fundamental facts and considerations which they themselves must face in their efforts to provide satisfactory railroad service.

It is hoped to engage the interest of the whole American people, whose welfare is so vitally dependent upon adequate transportation.

The country can grow only as the railroads grow. The railroad problem must be solved—and solved rightly and soon—if our country is to prosper.

It is to promote that prosperity—permanently and in the interest of the whole people—that railroad executives will present to the public the situation, as they see it.

NEW YORK TO MOVE BIG INDUSTRY

Enormous Business Under- taking All Planned.

New York, Dec. 17.—Business men of this metropolis, who are always doing something extraordinary in the way of commercial achievement, are going to move an entire industry—the garment trade—employing thousands of workers and millions of capital and housed in hundreds of buildings from one section of New York to another. The movement, known as the "Save Fifth Avenue" project, started several years ago and has just now assumed tangible form.

Factories which have long despoiled part of America's most famous shopping thoroughfare, many of them, within a few months will have packed up bag and baggage and transferred their activity to another area of Manhattan—west of Seventh Avenue from 30th to 38th street—there to establish the garment centre of the United States.

Fifth Avenue for years has borne the reputation of being the city's best residential street, the downtown section being devoted to retail shops of high and most diversified types. Into this region of imposing business buildings and exclusive merchandise, as time went on, the cloak and suit manufacturers, made their way. Soon the sewing machine blade came to eliminate the yard quick America's prominence of elite trade and style was being transformed into a factory district where noon and closing hour whistles and with limousine motor horns.

These cloak and suit manufacturers, however, most of them patriotic Americans and devotees of the picture of New York put together and, cooperating with a group of opinion known as the "Save New York Committee," formulated plans for the protection of factory buildings in a less exclusive section of the city. Carrying the idea of cooperation still further, they purchased many pieces of real estate, totalling 92,000 square feet in the Seventh Avenue section, and have obtained options on 102,000 square feet more. Plans now contemplate the construction of four cooperative factory buildings of sixteen stories each with a combined floor space of 1,400,000 square feet at a yearly rental cost of approximately $700,000, about 50 cents a square foot as against $2.00 a square foot which many of the manufacturers are now paying. The men interested in the project estimate a saving of not less than $3,000,000 a year in rent alone, and other similar economies they say, will "effectively slash the high cost of living as regards workers' garments." A reduction of from $1 to $7.25 per garment will be possible, they say, as a result of the stoppage of inflated rents. Sixty garment manufacturers with an annual output valued at $650,000,000 are to begin the new venture and other lines of trade are to be invited to join the movement as its practicality and wisdom are demonstrated.

These men were all prominent in their life time and nearly all were natives of Portsmouth. They represented the best interests of the city in business, politics and religion. Among this venerable company were merchants, bankers, mechanics and farmers. They always kept in touch with each other and had daily meeting places where they gathered up to their last days. The combined ages of the men in 1902 was 1382 years.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

PORTSMOUTH TAKING ON HOLIDAY ASPECT

As Christmas approaches the streets begin to take on a holiday appearance and throngs of shoppers are seen in the cars, on the sidewalks and in the stores while long lines of automobiles on Congress, Market and Pleasant streets proclaim the fact that the people who own them are spending much time inside the shops selecting their various gifts. Even the dignified head of the house is sometimes seen emerging from a shop with a bundle in his arms that looks suspiciously like a duck. Everyone is good natured—what though the stores are crowded, what though we carry more bundles than we take more than the allotted space in the cars—what though we are tired and worn and have spent more money than we had any right to—after all it is Christmas and we all feel the warm glow of the Christmas spirit and the fascination of the Christmas shopping. Already the spicy fragrance of Christmas trees and Christmas wreaths is in the air and the holiday decorations with the vivid color of the electric tinsel, the Christmas bells and the broad bands of ribbon combined with the holly and the mistletoe give the real Christmas atmosphere. There is no season like the yule-tide season, no season when we so forget ourselves and give not because we wish to get, but give for the sake of giving, but we must be wise in this giving for money wasted in foolish giving is worse than wasted because it sometimes brings a possible discomfort for those for whom it was wasted. After all we must not forget that it is not the value of the gift but that one's Christmas day may mean as much as a gift which means many dollars in cash. So at this Christmas season when the bills ring out their merry chimes we shall be fortunate indeed if we have not given beyond our means and if we have not spent our money foolishly or given people things which are of no value and which they do not want and which may end in the waste basket.

WORTH KNOWING

Do you know just how to sew on lace? The quickest and most effective stitch for applying lace to cut edges of fine linens, babies' dresses etc., is the little-known French overhand. It produces an effect that is very much like that of the rolled and whipped edge, but the work is much more quickly and easily accomplished. Use a very fine needle and thread. Hold the cut edge of the material (right side up) along the forefinger of the left hand held horizontally in front of you. Place the lace edging (wrong side up) parallel with the cut edge of the material, but one-sixteenth of an inch from the edge. Work from right to left. Bring the needle and the thread through the material and the lace, pointing the needle diagonally over the left shoulder, and between stitches throwing the thread well to the right. As you draw the needle through and right it over your shoulder the thread will roll the cut edges of the material completely backward and so give a pleasing, strong effect. The knack of it comes very quickly and once you have mastered the stitch you can do the work rapidly with little thought or effort.

To stretch a potato salad when one happens to be short of potatoes, and yet make the salad very tasty, add hard boiled eggs. A few sliced tomatoes used as a garnish make it very attractive and also stretches the portions. Sweet chilly pepper chopped through it gives both pungent flavor and good looks. Either celery seed or chopped celery and onion is an essential of a good potato salad. Parsley should be cut fine with a pair of old scissors and sprinkled liberally through also.

To stretch a salmon salad such cold vegetables as green peas and cucumbers taste well and help make more. Lettuce too, can be cut up liberally through the fish, as most people do not eat lettuce when it is used as a garnish, even though they are fond of it.

Collage cheese makes a nice salad when fruits and vegetables are scarce. There are several combinations to use with it. Walnut meats added to it or chopped pimentos and onion are good. Mould into balls and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Peanuts instead of walnut are a good salad ingredient and less expensive than walnuts. They are nice in banana salad.

Cold boiled beans and hard boiled eggs are good both to eat and look upon.

An appetizing combination salad is made by putting the following vegetables through the fine part of the meat grinder:—Cabbage, celery, carrots, red and green peppers and cucumbers. 12th or mayonnaise or French dressing should be used to marinate it liberally. This makes a nice salad to serve with cold meat.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL SOON BE HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

All of the young people will soon be with us from preparatory school and college and a warm welcome awaits these students who bring us a new stimulation and a fresh view of life. Christmas would not be Christmas without the presence of these boys and girls who bring their enthusiasm, their youth and their energy, to make us see and value the value of family ties as well as the value of their hope and their general optimistic outlook. Their elders listen to all their stories of parties and dances, their plans for their Christmas gifts and their stories of school life and live over again the days of their own youth and feel again all the thrill of hopeful anticipation which comes before we have lost some of life's illusions. The entire atmosphere of the city is changed during the school vacations and as we meet these young people on the street with their bright smiles and their fresh, youthful faces, the world somehow looks brighter and troubles take wings.
